Andy Feury President

Andy is a graduate of Flathead High School, and of the University of Montana in economics. He is the principal partner in Western Pacific Plastics—a company that produces lamination films and laminated MDF parts for furniture, kitchen cabinet, and award industries—with manufacturing facilities in China and Vietnam. He is also involved in Feury Family Farms, LLC, a fourth generation farm that produces grains, oil seeds, and cattle in Montana and North Dakota. Andy is also the head dishwasher, floor scrubber, and lunch cook for the crew at his wife Terri's Finn Biscuit bakery.

He brings to the board a broad base of experience and history covering a wide range of community issues thanks to his 14+ years serving in our city government. He served the Whitefish City Council from 1991-1998, Mayor 2000-2007, and on numerous committees from the Hwy EIS and Ice Rink Advisory Board. He feels that time afforded him the opportunity to learn how to clearly identify issues and the leadership skills to help develop and implement community supported policies to address them.

Andy is a life-long skier, hiker, upland game hunter, mountain biker, and self-described “badly obsessed” windsurfer for over 30 years. He enjoys cooking and traveling, and lives in Whitefish with his wife Terri and his 86 year old mother, Avis.
